

Pandemic Panic and the Ten Commandments

by Jeremy James

The weasel is known for his ability to “charm” small birds. He does this by performing a little dance near the bird, but not close enough to pose a threat. The bird watches, trying to figure out what he’s doing. As he dances the weasel moves from side to side and appears to the bird to retrace the same path. However, at each turn, the weasel moves a little closer to the bird until, finally, he is near enough to pounce.

The treasonous weasels who are destroying our respective countries are using a similar ploy. Creeping legislative restrictions are woven around a mesmerized population. A little here, a little there. The silly “dance” makes no sense, but it keeps everyone distracted. Then, before long, guidelines become rules and rules become laws, and what appeared to be temporary and exceptional is now permanent. This is how the pandemic scam works.

This could be interpreted as a scheme too deep for the average person to detect. It uses advanced psychology, cunning repetition, and clever lies by institutions we thought we could trust. If it is seen in this way, as a parlour trick executed on a national scale, then we would expect a great many people to fall for it. After all, sleight of hand, misdirection and hidden devices will fool most of us most of the time.

But the pandemic stank from the start. There was something outrageously phony about it. We didn't need to think very deeply or gather a mountain of evidence to see this. To anyone with a strong moral compass it ought to have been obvious. Most born-again Christians should have seen it immediately. Alas, having failed to do so, they have given the treasonous weasels all the room they need to beguile and mesmerize them with 'science.'

The Ninth Commandment

So, what did they miss? Which aspect of the 'pandemic' and its restrictions should have jumped off the page?

The answer is the Ninth Commandment: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

When anyone treats another person as though he is diseased, without any evidence, he is bearing false witness. We now have a society where most people are doing this. They even wear face masks to protect themselves from these 'diseased' people. By doing this are they bearing false witness in a very public way.

When we factor in physical distancing, we have a society whose members might as well go around with a placard saying, "Keep away. You are a threat to my well-being. I don't care how well you think you are. If you don't have a disease today, you may have it tomorrow. You should really have stayed at home. I could die because of you."

That is how our society functions today, in gross violation of the Ninth Commandment.

Our pastors should be calling this what it is – SIN. But they don't.

This is a deeply disturbing sign of how far the professing church has fallen. The elders and church leaders pretend not to see how rebellious they have become.

The incoming President of the United States even wants to institute a 100 days of sin. Everyone is being asked to wear a mask for a 100 days! The whole nation is now required to participate in a demonic masquerade.

This is a depraved ritual, where grown men and women, who ought to know better, are prepared to participate in Satan's derisive mockery of mankind.

God made man in His own image. Even in our fallen state, we must never lose sight of this fact, that we are God's creation and that He sent His Son to redeem us. By putting a mask over our face in a public place we are defiling our dignity as beings created by God in His own image and likeness.

This is well pleasing to Satan. The Enemy has already done this to women in Islamic societies, not to mention the many tribal societies in Africa, Asia and the Amazon where shamans, chieftains and tribal members make permanent marks and incisions in their faces to appease the gods.

A warning from Ezekiel

When the prophet Ezekiel was acting out one of the similitudes given to him by God, he had to leave his house at dusk in a furtive manner, bearing his few belongings, and behave as though he was being led into exile by a conquering army. By doing this he was showing his fellow Israelites that Jerusalem would soon fall and that its surviving inhabitants would be taken into captivity:

“In their sight shalt thou bear it upon thy shoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight: thou shalt cover thy face, that thou see not the ground: for I have set thee for a sign unto the house of Israel.”
(Ezekiel 12:6)

The LORD asked him to cover his face as he did this. Why? Because he was now a captive, a prisoner, someone whose life could be snuffed out in an instant by his captor. We know from Ezekiel that a face covering can also be a sign of profound mourning (Ezekiel 24:17) or inflicted blindness (Ezekiel 12:12).

In all cultures and civilizations throughout history, a person wearing a face mask in public was seen as either a slave, a captive or a criminal. It marked him out as an inferior or defective being, a creature devoid of human dignity. He had a price. He could be bought and sold. The laws that protected the rest of society did not apply to him.

So millions of Americans are about to stand before the world for 100 days bearing the mark of someone who has been blinded, bereaved, and enslaved.

This is akin to an occult ritual, known as operative magic, where the victim unwittingly acts out a pattern of behavior which reflects in an allegorical way the fate that awaits him. It also appears to be a method that Satan uses to impress his followers, expressing as it does the control he exercises over much of mankind.

By wearing a Covid mask in public we are bearing false witness against our neighbors. We are making serious accusations which have no basis in fact. We have no evidence for them and we have no right to make them.

This appalling violation of the Ninth Commandment, which has been under way for several months and which is scheduled to enter a daring new phase very shortly, is sin on a grand scale.

But it doesn't stop there.

The Fourth Commandment

The false ministers and pastors and elders who have turned a blind eye to the Ninth Commandment have also violated the Fourth Commandment – “remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy.”

Could that possibly be difficult? Hardly! It should be a joy. And yet ministers and pastors across the world are locking the doors of their church and keeping believers out. Apparently the government told them to do this. It would now seem that, when these people receive conflicting commands – one from man and one from God – the one from man takes precedence. (I heard one believer mutter, “Render unto Caesar...” Since when do we render unto Caesar what belongs only to God?)

Is this how they keep holy the sabbath day? Is this how pastors shepherd their flocks? They ignore even the additional command given by Jesus, namely, that we celebrate the Lord’s Supper. This is a glorious way to keep holy on the sabbath day, to come together in humility and reverence with fellow believers and commemorate the work that Christ achieved on our behalf on Calvary. But they listen only to Caesar and cancel this blessed celebration.

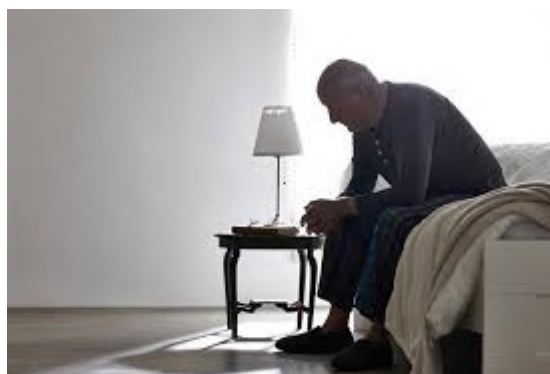

But it gets worse, if that’s possible.

The corruption of Christian worship

The entire Biblical teaching on praise and worship has been turned upside down. Christians no longer come together before the LORD and give the praise and worship that He is due. They are told instead that, by sitting at home and looking at a screen, they are being obedient to God’s Word. But this is ridiculous. It is a parody of true Christian worship. Staying at home and gazing at a screen is central to the cult of Hollywood, where empty minds follow their idols and imagine great things for themselves.

So, in addition to their violation of the Fourth Commandment the pastors, ministers and elders of this ‘modern’ novus ordo church are prepared to come dangerously close to violating the First Commandment.

If believers took the time to step back – as they should – and look afresh at this crass pandemic attack on the Church of Christ, they may find that, stern as they are, these words do not go far enough.

Consider, for example, the treatment of elderly believers, who are locked away in care homes under the Covid regime and denied the love and fellowship that are found only in true Christian worship. Do we no longer regard them as brothers and sisters in Christ? Has the professing church fallen so far into the pit of Masonic deception that its members find this grotesque behavior acceptable? They are mocking the Fifth Commandment when they do this!

We are to honor our father and our mother, which includes the expression of heartfelt respect for elderly believers. As Leviticus directs, “Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD.” (Leviticus 19:32)

Shame on a ‘church’ that does this, that treats the Fifth Commandment as something that can be hijacked by medical quacks and corrupt, Christ-hating politicians. Shame on those pastors and elders who keep silent while this outrage continues, where honest God-fearing folk who spent their lives sharing the gospel and serving the LORD are now locked away and denied the companionship of their families and fellow believers. Many of them will leave his world without ever again being able to celebrate the Lord’s Supper in a Christian assembly.

Satan’s use of face masks

The occult significance of face masks could be examined in great detail since it has many aspects. However, from a Biblical perspective, there is one which stands out. This relates to “breath”, which also means Spirit in Hebrew. Job was describing our absolute dependence on God when he said: “In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind.” (Job 12:10)

Satan hates this. He wants to be the one who controls our breath, our spirit, our life. He wants to place his hand, as it were, over our mouth and nostrils and determine how much “breath” we receive. He wants to take the place of God, to be the god “...in whose hand thy breath is” (Daniel 5:23).

The Death of Ananias by Jan Steen (1651)

Our pastors, preachers and elders – who vowed to uphold the Word of God under all circumstances – find it convenient to pretend they know nothing of this. But they are not being truthful. As the Bible says, “...thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God. And Ananias hearing these words fell down, and gave up the ghost:” (Acts 5:4-5)

Satanic attack on the Church

This Satanic attack on the church is being thinly disguised as a public health emergency, but our pastors, ministers and elders continue to pretend that the crisis is legitimate, that everything will return to normal if only we do as the government decrees. Obey Caesar and prosper. The false teachers urge us to remember Romans 13 and do what the politicians tell us, even as we cringe at the government’s lies and its blatant desecration of Biblical values.

The false teachers dismiss or trivialize the clear Biblical requirement to come together regularly – as the church must do – and worship God. The Bible even tells us to do this with greater diligence as we see the “day” approaching. The “day,” of course, is the great day of the LORD:

“Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching”
(Hebrews 10:25)

The Great Day of His Wrath by John Martin (c.1851)

The Eighth Commandment

The same church leaders are deaf to any reference to the Eighth Commandment. After all, who steals? Not ordinary people. Only thieves steal. But ordinary people are thieves when they take what does not belong to them. This includes sitting at home all day and relying on other people to pay our bills and put food on the table.

As the Apostle Paul said, “...this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10). So when the government shuts down viable businesses and deprives decent people of their livelihood, offering ‘Covid payments’ in compensation, it is violating the Eighth Commandment. By standing back and staying silent before this clear violation of God’s Word, church leaders are complicit in a serious crime. They have decided to let a gang of treasonous weasels run our country. It is just as Jesus said: “The hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.” (John 10:13)

(Acts 2:42)

ABOVE: Something the church used to do.

The hirelings expect everything to return to “normal” fairly soon. Why should they step out of line and risk a penalty of some kind, or a painful rebuke from law enforcement? Why should they take a stand for God’s Word when it is much easier to play along and wait until everything settles down again? They can later placate any disaffected members – there may be a few – by preaching a couple of sermons on Romans 13 and “render unto Caesar.” They may even try for some brownie points and urge their flocks to take the vaccine.

Immense harm has been inflicted on the institutional church in the past year. It turns out our leaders had plenty of theology but no backbone. As Jesus said, “For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.” (John 12:43).

CONCLUSION

It will be very hard to chart a way forward from here. Those believers who truly love God (and their fellow man) will need to find each other, come together, and pray for guidance. They will need to do what the professing church has not done for at least 50 years and trust God’s Word, putting it first and last in everything they do. They will need to separate completely from the novus ordo church, the church now ruled by Freemasons and miscellaneous Luciferians. They will need to abandon the ‘Popes’ of the evangelical church – there are so many! – and look with great diligence and obedience to our wonderful High Priest.

For those who still cling to the hope that ‘normality’ will soon be restored, the outlook is bleak. The Enemy has planned this nasty campaign for a long, long time and invested heavily in its success. Over the same period, the sleeping institutional church has slid further and further into complacency and, in far too many instances, apostasy. The man who was lame from birth put it well: “Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth.” (John 9:31)

Ah, yes, “a worshipper of God.” This is precisely why the institutional church has fallen asunder. There is also the small matter of those four little words, “and doeth his will.” How many abandoned Commandments did we identify? Five? Perhaps if we had continued our analysis, we would have found one or two more. (We haven’t even broached the precious subject of witnessing and evangelism, thoughtlessly abandoned by the mask-wearing novus ordo church.)

For the large number of professing Christians who have not yet woken up to the gravity of what is happening, I would like to share a story. It is an account written by a Canadian mother, a born-again Christian, who took her handicapped daughter on a long-awaited trip to Mexico. She speaks with great clarity, honesty and eloquence, so I have not inserted any comments of my own or provided a summary. Her story is set out in full in Appendix A. Please take the time to read it. It speaks for itself.

As we stated in #259, The LORD Shall Roar from On High, we need to remind ourselves daily of the wonderful promises that our Heavenly Father made in His Word. If we stand on His promises, we can rejoice, “though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea” (Psalm 46).

APPENDIX A

Dear Dr. Scott, I am a longtime listener from Canada and I am writing to tell you about the Covid insanity in my country and their push to take away all of our rights and freedoms.

My daughter and I just returned from a week in Mexico. On the fourth night of our trip I received an email from the airline stating that we wouldn't be able to take our flight back to Canada without first receiving a negative Covid test. This was a brand new regulation, put into law that very day. We were scheduled to fly back to Canada three days from the date I received the notification. I am speechless that this is legal. How can a citizen of a country, who is healthy and who has no criminal charges against them, be denied entry into their country of birth because they haven't proven that they aren't sick? Does this not go against the Nuremberg Code which clearly outlines that a medical procedure must be done voluntarily and without force, fraud, deceit, duress or overreach? What can I do, as a single mother in a foreign country, with limited funds and no help?

I was told that I could get a test in Cancun, which was about 5 hours' drive from where we were staying. We weren't in a tourist area, but in a very rural, poor part of the country, and we don't speak Spanish. I called the Canadian embassy for help, but they were closed due to Covid! I called my MP back home. No help. Called Transport Canada, Border Services Agency, Health Canada, the airline, etc. at $2.00 a minute and no one could help or guide me, or even help me find a location to get the test done. The answer I got was blunt. Get the test or don't come back to Canada.

We went to a rural hospital in Mexico and they agreed to give us the test. I told them I only wanted a cheek swab test but they refused. We had to have both a back of the throat swab, as well as both nostrils. My daughter was crying and hysterical, and so was I. I don't have words for how it feels to have to hold down your 9-year-old daughter so that a swab can be inserted all the way up her nose. My daughter looked into my eyes and was crying, and she said, "You told me you would never let them do this to me." I did make that promise to her, and I will never forgive myself for breaking it.

A quick side note. My daughter is 9 years old and has a physical disability. I took an early retirement to care for her. They told me that she might never walk, and I carried her around in my arms for four years. I refused to allow them to fit her with leg braces or get her a wheelchair. I prayed to God to heal her, and one day she just stood up and started walking. She is still disabled and has limited stamina and mobility, but because of what she and I went through, we are extra close. I home-school her and we spend every hour of every day together. She told me that she wanted to see a palm tree and the ocean, and walk along the beach just once in her life. I hadn't been on a vacation for over 30 years, and my daughter had never been away from home. I knew we wouldn't get another chance to take a vacation because the Covid pass will soon be mandatory for air travel, and I will die before I take that cursed vaccine or allow them to inject my child.

I prayed for God's intervention at that Mexican hospital and He once again answered my prayers. My daughter was so defiant and out of control that the nurse finally agreed to pretend to give her the test. She motioned that she would only put it up to the opening of the nostril and she motioned for us to be quiet. She was true to her word and we left. Praise the Lord that he spared my girl!

Unfortunately, I had to endure the swab going to the very back of my throat and up both nostrils as far as it would go. It is a horrible feeling. Your body is screaming at you to recoil. As soon as the test was done I began to feel a metallic taste at the back of my throat, almost as if something was dripping down my throat. I was ill for the rest of the trip and still feel sick. Our last three days of the trip were ruined, and the cost of the test, transportation and phone calls amounted to about one thousand dollars, which I can ill afford. But the fun was only beginning!

When we arrived back in Canada we had to go through 5 or 6 levels of security (I don't remember because I had been awake for 36 hours at this point, driving through the night to get to the airport in Mexico). Any joy at being home quickly dissipated due to the almost military bearing of the airport personnel. We were immediately threatened with a ONE MILLION dollar fine and up to 3 years in prison if we were caught not quarantining for the 14 days. We had already tested negative for the virus but we still weren't allowed to leave our home under threat of prison time and a 7-figure fine.

Please remember that to board the plane in Mexico we had to prove that we had tested negative for Covid. However, the jackboots in Canada didn't care. They demanded that we show them the test results again. I had a screenshot of the test results on my phone, but I couldn't get the image to load. I was told that if I couldn't prove the negative test results right there and then, that we would be taken by force if necessary to a government facility! My daughter started to get scared and we were removed and taken to a separate location. I remember the airport guards started coming around and whispering, and I knew we were minutes away from being grabbed. I finally had the results resent to my phone, and they were able to confirm our negative results. One of the airport personnel told me that they we literally had only minutes before we were carted off to a government facility.

This is probably the first time that I have felt fear in my home country. It's changed. Not one person in that airport was pleasant or personable. Not one person tried to comfort a terrified child, or even ask her if she had fun on vacation. They were cold, suspicious and deadly serious. I am a retired Peace Officer, sworn to protect my country. Never did I once have fear of my government until now.

Since I've been home I have been hounded by the government. They text me every day, reminding me what will happen if I leave my house. I also receive 4 to 5 emails every day from the government. On top of that I have to submit 2 government reports online every day – one for myself and one for my daughter. To make it even more absurd, a member of the government calls me – even on the weekend – to go over the same information that is covered in the online questionnaire and to remind me of the repercussions if I don't quarantine. This is not a recorded message but a live person calling from Health Canada, that goes over the same information. Through all of the texts, emails, phone calls and internet questionnaires, I am reminded that an officer could stop by my home at any time, so I better not try and sneak out. Yesterday the Health Officer that called me hung up on me after I told him how disgusted I am over their treatment of Canadian citizens. Let me also state that while all of this is going on, the border at Roxham Road, Quebec, is open for illegals to cross into Canada, to be put up in hotels at taxpayer expense, no Covid test necessary! The law abiding citizens have become the criminals and the criminals are above the law.

This is slave training. Wear a petrochemical mask that doesn't provide protection against any virus, but will provide a perfect environment for micro mold to grow, as well as putting the wearer in a state of respiratory acidosis. Forced to take a PCR test that was never meant to be used for diagnosing an illness but only amplifies viral fragments in your body and has up to 95% false positives. All this for a virus that has never been isolated and has, by their own stats, up to a 99.98% chance of recovery.

It is time that we pray for God's judgement to fall on the land. Good things always happen when God judges the wicked.

For now, unless God intervenes, we are heading full speed ahead into global Communism, a.k.a. the Great Reset. We all need to pray that God deems us worthy to escape the evil that is coming on this world. It is like a cloud choking out the light and I don't see anyone in my community – including the church – that is fighting against this wickedness.

I would say that for the past few months my daughter and I are the only people not wearing a mask when we venture outside the house. I have been harassed, kicked out of stores, mocked and screamed at. I keep trying to reason with people using facts, statistics, humor, common sense, but it's not working. It's as though God has blinded them to obvious truths, and their hostility is rising rapidly. I am seeing an insane level of animosity toward those pointing out that this is a plandemic. It reminds me of the Bible verse that says there will come a time when they will kill you and think they are doing God's work. For now we are prisoners in our home, but I fear that something much more sinister is coming. If I must be a sacrifice then I pray it is done to give the glory to God
