

Gog, Google, Gold and the Goddess: How Illuminati Trademarks Blaspheme the LORD God of the Bible

by Jeremy James

The sociopaths who control the United States, and who are in the process of igniting World War III, are incredibly arrogant. While hiding their intentions – and even their existence – as much as possible, they are prone on occasion to put their ‘signature’ on their best work. They especially like to honor the ‘god’ of their false religion and to have the masses unwittingly bow down before him.

For example, as many commentators have already noted, some of the principal dates in the Christian calendar are actually pagan feast days – the goddess of fertility is worshipped at Easter, which is named after Ishtar, one of the most senior Babylonian deities; the 12 days of Saturnalia, which celebrate the chaos of the underworld and its dark lord, Saturn, are marked by the 12 days of Christmas; while All Hallows Eve, which is meant to honour the memory of faithful Christian believers, is used instead to celebrate the very opposite, the wicked frenzy of the fallen angels during the dark feast of Halloween – a variant of All Hallows Eve.

The occult significance of certain brand names

This covert practice continues today through such well known names as Amazon, Nike, Starbucks, Yahoo, Apple, and Google.

Take the name Amazon, which most people associate with the river in Brazil of the same name. However an ‘Amazon’ was also a member of an all-female tribe in ancient Greek mythology, some of whom were related to the gods. They were fearsome warriors who triumphed over men in battle and are revered today as role models by a certain class of lesbian.

The logo for amazon.com, featuring the text "amazon.com" in a black sans-serif font with a curved orange arrow underneath the letters "a" and "z".

Another well-known brand name, Nike, is also derived from mythology. Nike was the winged goddess of victory whose image was depicted with great frequency in ancient Greek art.

Yet another female deity is represented on the Starbucks logo and in the brand name itself. We are led to believe that the name originally chosen for the company was 'Pequod', after the whaling vessel in the famous novel, Moby Dick, but that this was later replaced by the name of its chief mate, Starbuck.

However, given the extraordinary significance that the company attaches to its logo – which we will examine shortly – it seems more logical to conclude that the name is really an amalgamation of two ancient deities, Ishtar (whom we have already mentioned) and Mammon. The latter is mentioned several times in the King James Bible and served as the supernatural personification of “wealth” in the epic poem, Paradise Lost, by John Milton. The modern slang equivalent of Mammon is Bucks. Thus Ishtar-Mammon becomes Star-Bucks.

The choice of name in each case – Amazon, Nike, Starbucks – is deliberately pagan. The same idea may also be found in the brand name of the computer manufacturer, Apple. As with Starbucks, the full significance of its name becomes apparent only when it is considered in conjunction with its logo:

An apple with a bite-sized chunk missing is a clear reference to the Garden of Eden. While the variety of fruit concerned is not specified in the Bible, it is traditionally taken to be an apple. Thus the image of an apple with a piece missing is a symbol of man's rebellion against God.

This blasphemous theme was taken a step further by the founders of Yahoo! The name 'Yahoo' is actually derived from one of the Biblical names of God – Yah – which appears four times in the New King James Bible. It is also the first syllable of the most sacred name of God, Yahweh. According to the Jewish Encyclopedia (1906) the name Yahu is an important alternative rendering of Jah or Yah, where the suffix 'hu' denotes the third person masculine singular.

It is certainly disquieting that one of the most sacred names of God is used for commercial purposes by a large corporation in its pursuit of Mammon.

Not to be outdone, the blasphemy was echoed by Google. The story commonly told is that the name 'Google' is simply an alternative spelling of the mathematical term 'googol', meaning 10 to the power of 100 ( $10^{100}$ ), an astronomically large number.

However, if we examine the two syllables in the name Google, another explanation may be found. ‘Gog’ is one of the names in the Bible for the Antichrist (or a major Antichrist figure), while ‘El’ is a Biblical name for the one, true living God (see Genesis 33:20). In pronunciation ‘Gog’ rhymes with ‘brogue’. Thus Google and Gog-El are phonetically and orthographically very similar. Interpreted in this manner the message is plain: ‘Google’ asserts that the Antichrist will usurp the place of God.

Given the contribution that this company is now making to the creation of a New World Order, which is an essential precondition for the arrival of the Antichrist, there is a sinister rationale to its choice of name.

We have also seen how two of the brand-names, Amazon and Nike, exalt the goddess or feminine deity in her militant, wrathful aspect. Strangely, Starbucks does this too! Its official website includes a page addressing the question, “So, Who is the Siren?”

The screenshot shows the Starbucks website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'Sign In', 'Customer Service', and 'Find a Store'. Below this is a main menu with categories: 'Coffee' (Beans Blends Brewing), 'Menu' (Drinks Food Nutrition), 'Coffeehouse' (Music Wi-Fi Community), 'Responsibility' (Values Goals Progress), 'Card' (Register Reload Rewards), and 'Shop' (Search Compare Buy). The main content area features the article title 'So, Who is the Siren?' with a date of 'Wednesday, January 05, 2011' and the author 'Posted by Steve M., senior writer'. The article text begins with 'Great question. It's one we kept asking ourselves during the evolution of our logo (and yes, that's right, a writer was involved in a logo project). We all needed to really, deeply understand for ourselves who she is.' and continues with 'So, a little history. Let's go all the way back to 1971, to when Starbucks was first coming to be. In a search for a way to capture the seafaring history of coffee and Seattle's strong seaport roots, there was a lot of poring over old marine books going on. Suddenly, there she was: a 16th century Norse woodcut of a twin-tailed mermaid, or Siren. There was something about her – a seductive mystery mixed with a nautical theme that was exactly what the founders were looking for. A logo was designed around her, and our long relationship with the Siren began.' To the right of the article, there are social media sharing buttons for 'Tweet', '+1', and 'Like', along with a 'Find Us Online' section containing links for 'facebook', 'YouTube', 'Twitter', 'my STARBUCKS IDEA', 'Pinterest', and 'g+'.

Here is what the author went on to say:

Over the last 40 years we've made some changes to that identity. Now we're doing that again, to keep ourselves relevant as we evolve without ever losing sight of our heritage. But the Siren has always been there. She is at the heart of Starbucks.

As a writer, though, I can tell you that there is a lot more to her than just the design and how she looks. This is what she means to me, and to us.

She is a storyteller, carrying the lore of Starbucks ahead, and remembering our past. In a lot of ways, she's a muse – always there, inspiring us and pushing us ahead.

And she's a promise too, inviting all of us to find what we're looking for, even if it's something we haven't even imagined yet.

She means something different to every one who sees her, who knows her. For me she's kind of the final say on the spirit of everything I write and everything we do. Even as I'm writing this, I wonder what she thinks. (She likes it, by the way.)

Here we are today. Our new evolution liberates the Siren from the outer ring, making her the true, welcoming face of Starbucks. For people all over the globe, she is a signal of the world's finest coffee – and much more. She stands unbound, sharing our stories, inviting all of us in to explore, to find something new and to connect with each other. And as always, she is urging all of us forward to the next thing. After all, who can resist her?

Not me.

This is an undisguised eulogy to the goddess, the daemon or muse of pagan mythology. She is believed to guide, inspire and control the destiny of men. In her siren aspect, she can be dangerous and will punish all who trespass upon her domain. Starbucks are not just marketing a brand of coffee; they are preaching the false gospel of the New Age, where people of all nations – “people all over the globe” – are invited to acknowledge the divine feminine, the pagan goddess of all religions. As the blurb says, “She is at the heart of Starbucks” and “[she is] inviting all of us to find what we're looking for.” Incredibly, the pagan adulation is such that she is actually proclaimed to be the highest spiritual reality: “[She's] the final say on the spirit of...everything we do.”

Adulation of the Goddess in the New Age

The New Age is portrayed by its advocates as a quantum leap forward in human evolution, where man supposedly makes contact with the divine feminine within himself and discovers that everything is connected: As the Starbucks website says: “Our new evolution liberates the Siren from the outer ring...She stands unbound...inviting all of us in to explore, to find something new and to connect with each other. And as always, she is urging all of us forward to the next thing. After all, who can resist her?”

The Starbucks philosophy, as expressed in these words and highlighted in their logo, is pure Wicca. The Siren is the wrathful goddess of all occult mythologies, who can destroy the careless and the foolish but who will reward and exalt the hero. She likes to flaunt her own sexuality and to be worshipped through the performance of wanton sexual acts.

The figure at the center of the Starbucks logo adopts a posture that is clearly intended to be sexually provocative. The earlier versions did this even more graphically than the current one – see those of 1971 and 1987:

It is no coincidence that most of these corporations – Starbucks, Amazon, Nike, Apple – are vocal supporters of the “gay” lifestyle (sodomy), where men behave like women and indulge in promiscuous sex.

The vulgar sexuality of the Starbucks logo is of ancient origin. In medieval Ireland, the goddess of fertility was honored throughout the land with stone carvings of a figure known today as a Sheela-na-gig. The New Oxford Dictionary of English (1998) defines it as follows:

“Sheela-na-gig...a medieval stone figure of a naked female with the legs wide apart and the hands emphasizing the genitals, found in churches in Britain and Ireland.”

The examples below, with their braided hair, are conceptually very similar to the Starbucks logo. And just as the Starbucks logos of 1987 and 1992 included several five-pointed stars as an occult embellishment, the Sheela-na-gig from Ballinderry Castle also has several pagan symbols, including a triquetra and a triskelion (see below)

Interestingly, the triskelion motif also crops up in the logo for Google Chrome.

Caherelly Castle, Co Limerick

Ballinderry Castle, Co Galway

Triquetra

Triskelion

The triskelion motif in Google Chrome™

The Crescent Moon

Since the goddess is closely associated with the moon, we would also expect occasionally to find lunar motifs of one kind or another embedded in logos and trademarks. Again Google obliges with two interwoven crescent moons in the second 'O' of its ubiquitous Desktop trademark:

The crescent moon is also used globally by Islam as a symbol of the moon god Al'ilah (Allah), and is displayed on the topmost point of domes and minarets of every mosque in the world:

It is clear from the evidence we have considered so far that these global corporations are determined to project a distinctly non-Christian identity and to wrap themselves as much as possible in the persona of a pagan deity, in particular a goddess.

Some of these pagan images and symbols are very cleverly designed. If a prize were awarded to the trademark with the most economical expression of occult ideas, it would probably go to Google for its Desktop emblem, where the interwoven crescent moons either depict or suggest a double six, intertwining snakes, and the Eye of Horus. Indeed, each of its crescent moons comprise two conjoined crescents. Clearly a lot of thought went into this trademark:

The crescent-moon theme is carried even further by the international bio-hazard sign which employs interlocking triple crescents in triquetra form with a superimposed lunar disc:

Perhaps we were too hasty when we gave the prize to Google. The Goat's Head sigil, devised by Dow Chemicals in 1966, is in a class of its own. Given what Dow, along with Monsanto and other GMO manufacturers, are achieving through their ongoing destruction of the global food supply, it is only fitting that the symbol they devised should reflect the vile Satanic mindset that permeates their industry.

The GMO Death Machine

It would be a serious mistake to underestimate the cunning and determination of these people. For example, Monsanto has employed a seductive programming technique that has infiltrated virtually every home in America. Remember the Toy Story movies? Well, the second one was a masterpiece of subliminal indoctrination. Cast your eye over the following images from the movie and its associated merchandising. Do you notice anything?

CD of 'Woody's Roundup' songs

Woody's bedroom wall, adorned with 'Roundup' memorabilia

Pixar poster of 'Woody's Roundup'

Note the Monsanto products, Roundup and Bullseye, both of which contain the hazardous chemical, glyphosate.

Extracts from the PAN Pesticides Database [same page]

PAN Pesticides Database - Pesticide Products

Home > Pest Control Product Search

Product Name on Label: Bullseye systemic weed and grass killer

The EPA Registered Name for this product is: Kleeraway systemic weed & grass killer2

This occurs when a single registered product is sold using many different names. For a complete list, see the Distri page.

Note: See Working with the Information on this Page section below for important notes about this data.

Distributor Names for Kleeraway systemic weed & grass killer2

Product names	Distributor
Bullseye systemic weed and grass killer	Monsanto
Contact herbicide #2	Monsanto
Green death concentrate	Monsanto
Kleeraway systemic weed & grass killer2	Monsanto
Ornery systemic weed and grass killer	Monsanto
Proline renegade	Monsanto
Zap-it concentrate	Monsanto

Toxicity for Kleeraway systemic weed & grass killer2

Summary Toxicity Information for the Active Ingredients in this Product

For detailed chemical information click on the chemical names below

Active Ingredients	Percent	Carcinogen
Chemical Name
 Glyphosate	5.00 %	Not Likely

Legend

Indicates high toxicity in the given toxicological category.

Indicates no available weight-of-the-evidence "Additional Resources for Toxicity" sec

Source:

http://www.pesticideinfo.org/Detail\_Product.jsp?REG\_NR=07199500002&DIST\_NR=008123

This was a massive propaganda coup for Monsanto. Children across America, not to mention millions of young adults, have been conditioned to associate the name Roundup with feelings of good-will, heroism and adventure. They were even programmed to applaud a horse named Bullseye, which happens to be the name of yet another Monsanto product – which also contains the hazardous chemical glyphosate!

It defies belief.

When a Symbol is more than a Symbol

To normal people, symbols are just symbols, nothing more. But to the sociopaths who covertly control this world they are repositories of occult energy, a source of supernatural power that only the initiates of the ancient mysteries can exploit. For them, symbols are extremely important. And symbols that mock the Bible and the LORD God of the Bible are especially prized. A symbol in plain sight that secretly blasphemes the LORD is, for them, a source of great satisfaction. Their pleasure is increased even more if they can get unwitting Christians to accept and use such blasphemous symbols without knowing what they ‘really’ mean.

Take the popular drink, Red Bull, for example. How could its name possibly have any sinister connotations? Well, to the average person it very likely has none. But to the ‘insiders’ it expresses yet another of their many blasphemies. To understand this, one must again go back to the Bible and see which particular aspect of God’s Holy Word they are blaspheming. In this instance it is the red heifer of Numbers 19:

“This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD hath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee a red heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish, and upon which never came yoke: And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the priest, that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one shall slay her before his face: And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times: And one shall burn the heifer in his sight; her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, with her dung, shall he burn: And the priest shall take cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet, and cast it into the midst of the burning of the heifer.” (Numbers 19:2-6)

“And a man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel for a water of separation: it is a purification for sin.” (Numbers 19:9)

The “water of separation”, which was made from the ashes of the red heifer, was appointed by the LORD as a purification for sin. Just as the heifer was taken outside the camp to be slain, Jesus would be taken outside the walls of Jerusalem and slain on Calvary. The “water of separation” washed away defilement and thus prefigured the blood of Christ which washed away our sin.

The 'Red Bull' image is pagan to the core, a blasphemous mockery of the water of separation and, by extension, the blood of Christ. It too is water of a particular kind, designed to impart strength – as the advertising slogan says, “Red Bull Gives You Wings.” The ‘wings’ in question are those of the rebellious angels, notably the black wings of Lucifer:

The bull itself, in this context, is also a symbol of Satan. The Israelites worshipped the golden calf in the desert, while the northern kingdom set up centers of idolatry at Bethel and Dan, where the calf or bull was worshipped by the community. The idol in each case was synonymous with that of Apis, the bull god of ancient Egypt:

Apis was unique among Egyptian gods in that it was the only one depicted solely in the form of an animal. All others could be represented by a combination of animal and human forms. It is therefore regarded as the oldest and possibly the most potent of the occult sun symbols. The Apis bull is closely associated with the god Osiris, the form in which Lucifer is worshipped in Freemasonry.

Even more blasphemy

The 'Monster' energy drink, which appeared on the market in 2002, celebrates the number 666 in its logo. The stylized 'M' of its name is made up of three parallel strokes very similar to the Hebrew letter Vav, which in Cabala has a gematric value of 6. Thus three Vavs in succession denote '666'.

Since 'Monster' is a synonym for 'Beast' and the company slogan is "Unleash the Beast", there is a deliberate reference here to the 'Beast' in the Book of Revelation, also known as the Antichrist.

Vav is also the Hebrew word for 'nail' as used in carpentry. Thus three successive Vavs depict three iron nails. This sly reference would not be apparent to most members of the public – who would likely believe the Vavs were the scratch marks produced by the nails of a predatory animal. However the same Biblical motif has long been openly employed by the Jesuits in their famous logo, which also features three iron nails [see below]. These are the nails that held Christ to the cross.

Satan or Apis, the ultimate beast, exulted in his 'victory' when Christ was nailed to the cross. Indeed, Psalm 22, the Crucifixion Psalm, made a prophetic reference to his demonic dance and that of his fallen angels when it stated:

“Many bulls have compassed me:
strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round.
They gaped upon me with their mouths,
as a ravening and a roaring lion.”

– Psalm 22:12-13

In light of this we can see that the Monster logo is actually a blasphemous mockery of the cross of Calvary. The three physical objects that have pleased Satan the most are brazenly depicted, namely the three nails that fixed Christ to the cross. They symbolise his 'triumph', his finest hour. He even expects to repeat this again when he infuses the person known as the Antichrist with his dark, demonic energy. This is the meaning of the 'energy' slogan, "Unleash the Beast!"

Note also that the letter "O" in 'Monster' is modified to incorporate a distorted cross [see below], thereby extending the blasphemy. The modification actually includes a clever occult finesse since a circle (the letter "O") with a vertical line through it denotes the Greek letter phi ( $\phi$ ) – which is the symbol commonly used in Freemasonry to represent the Golden Ratio, one of Satan's favorite motifs. As it happens, the Pentagram, a major symbol in Satanism, expresses the Golden Ratio in 200 different ways – an astonishing property for just 5 intersecting lines.

Monster energy drink logo, with its three nails.

Jesuit solar logo, with three nails below the 'IHS' symbol.

The typical nail used for crucifixion by the Romans was 5-7 inches in length.

The Hebrew letter Vav is a pictogram of a peg, hook or nail – see below.

י	ט	ח	ז	ו	ה	ד	ג	ב	א
Yod	Tet	Chet	Zayin	Vav	He	Dalet	Gimel	Bet	Alef
(Y)	(T)	(Ch)	(Z)	(V/W)	(H)	(D)	(G)	(B/V)	(silent)
10	9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2	1
ע	ס	נ	נ	מ	מ	ל	ך	ק	פ
Ayin	Samech	Nun	Nun	Mem	Mem	Lamed	Khaf	Kaf
(silent)	(S)	(N)	(N)	(M)	(M)	(L)	(Kh)	(K/Kh)
70	60	50		40	30			20
ת	ש	ר	ק	ץ	צ	ף	פ
Tav	Shin	Resh	Qof	Tsadeh	Tsadeh	Feh	Peh
(T)	(Sh/S)	(R)	(Q)	(Ts)	(Ts)	(F)	(P/F)
400	300	200	100		90		80

Vav = 6 = 'Nail' in Hebrew

Hebrew alphabet with traditional numerical values.

The '666' theme is reinforced by the slogan:
 “Unleash the Beast!”

The name Monster is itself a synonym for Beast.

The strange “O” in Monster is really a corrupted cross.

The triple-Vav, 6-6-6 theme is one that these sociopaths delight in repeating. Since the LORD in his Holy Word has associated this number with the name or identity of their long-awaited demonic Avatar, they take particular pleasure in flaunting it in seemingly innocent ways. And when it comes to what they love most of all, gold and silver – “For the love of money is the root of all evil” (1 Timothy 6:10) – they seek to stamp every ingot and bar in the world with their Satanic seal (see images below).

They are so deceived by their demonic master that they actually believe their gold and silver will serve some useful purpose in these, the last days, but the LORD says otherwise!

“They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be removed: their silver and their gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the LORD: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels: because it is the stumblingblock of their iniquity.” (Ezekiel 7:19)

“Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of his jealousy: for he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.” (Zephaniah 1:18)

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days.” (James 5:3)

These people are so brazen, so incredibly arrogant, that they are convinced there is nothing the sleeping masses – the “sheep” – can do to stop them. Some of their exploits have been so outrageous that they could only have been carried out by people who have nothing but contempt for the fragile intelligence of humanity. They can send a missile into the Pentagon and then tell the world that it was a large passenger plane. It takes extraordinary arrogance to do something like that. They can utterly demolish three huge steel-reinforced skyscrapers with two passenger planes. These were buildings that could withstand a massive earthquake, and yet two aluminum tubes and a few tons of kerosene reduced them to dust!

Salutation to the Sun at Sunset

The same arrogance is shown by many of their leaders. Over the past few years the Internet has carried a now famous montage of 18 photos of German Chancellor Angela Merkel displaying a potent hand sign from occult lore. I did a little research and found a further 22 photos, in each of which she brazenly displays her affiliation with the pagan elite who rule Europe – see montage below.

The hand sign in question is known in the occult as “the salutation to the sun at sunset” and is especially esteemed by followers of Thelemic Magick.

When she posed for a photo for the cover of Reader's Digest in 2012, Mrs Obama made the same sign in a most deliberate manner – see below.

She would seem to share her husband's philosophy. While he lived in Indonesia, he went by the legal name Barry Soetoro. So we are justified in asking why it was later changed to ‘Barack Obama’. If we follow the line of thought that we have already demonstrated – that special occult power is believed to come from the covert use of names of pagan deities, pagan signs, and the blasphemous use of Biblical names – we make a very disturbing discovery.

Consider the following passage from Ezekiel:

“Therefore, son of man, speak unto the house of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Yet in this your fathers have blasphemed me, in that they have committed a trespass against me. For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they saw every high hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented the provocation of their offering: there also they made their sweet savour, and poured out there their drink offerings. Then I said unto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day.”

– Ezekiel 20:27-29

Mrs Merkel deliberately and consistently makes a pagan sign in official photos.

The sign is known in the occult as “the salutation to the sun at sunset.”

Original montage of 18 (left).

Updated montage of 40 (below).

www.zephaniah.eu

Here is what the great Bible scholar, A R Fausset, had to say about this passage from Ezekiel:

High places were chosen for Baal worship, and human victims were sometimes offered as burnt offerings (Jer.xix.5)...In Ezek.xx.29, "I said...what is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day," the sense is, You ought to have long since put away the name, and the high place which it expresses; the very name implies it is not sanctified by Me. Therefore your sacrifice even to Me in it (much more to idols) is only a "provocation" to Me (Ver.28) [A R Fausset, Bible Dictionary, 1949, pps.64 & 291]

Thus Bamah means "high place," specifically "high place of Baal." Since it designates a place of pagan worship to Baal, and is described as such by God's Holy Word – a place of blasphemy and provocation – it is deeply offensive to the LORD.

Now consider the Wikipedia entry for the name 'Baruch':

Baruch (Hebrew: בָּרוּךְ, Modern Barukh Tiberian Bārûk; "Blessed") has been a given name among Jews from Biblical times up to the present, on some occasions also used as surname. It is also found, though more rarely, among Christians – particularly among Protestants who use Old Testament names. Except for its use as a name, this is also related to berakhah or bracha (Hebrew: הַכְרִיב; plural תּוֹכְרִיב, berakhot), which is a Jewish blessing. See also: Baraka and Barakah. The root B-R-K meaning "blessing" is also present in other Semitic languages. The most common Arabic form is the passive form Mubarak, but the form Barack is also used.

In light of these facts, which are easy to verify, it is clear that the name of the 44th President of the United States is actually (and intentionally) an occult invocation:

‘Barack Obama’ = ‘Baruch, O Bamah!’ = ‘Bless Thee, Baal!’

Every time millions of Americans pronounce his name they are giving praise – unwittingly – to the pagan god, Baal.

Conclusion

Very few people are willing to concede that the world is controlled by a cartel of ultra-rich individuals who worship and serve the fallen angels. Even traditional Bible-believing Christians seem unwilling or unable to believe what the Word of God very plainly states about these individuals, in particular the way they conspire together to trap and destroy all who love the LORD and His wonderful Son:

“Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity: Who whet their tongue like a sword, and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words: That they may shoot in secret at the perfect: suddenly do they shoot at him, and fear not. They encourage themselves in an evil matter: they commune of laying snares privily; they say, Who shall see them? They search out iniquities; they accomplish a diligent search: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart, is deep.” (Psalm 64:2-6)

There IS a conspiracy (secret counsel, they encourage themselves in an evil matter). There IS a revolutionary plan to take complete control of the world (insurrection of the workers of iniquity). Steps ARE being taken on a systematic basis to secretly harm those who follow traditional Biblical values (that they may shoot in secret at the perfect; they commune of laying snares privily). And the people behind this conspiracy ARE both evil and extremely adept at lying and deception (both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart, is deep; they search out iniquities, they accomplish a diligent search).

The people who run America hate Christianity. They hate the LORD God of the Bible and they hate His wonderful Son, Jesus Christ. They worship a different god, they follow a different religion, and they are on the brink of destroying your once great nation.

Pray that the LORD in His mercy delays this terrible judgment because, when the hammer falls, a tidal wave of fear will engulf America, crush her spirit, and enslave her people.

---

Jeremy James
Ireland
July 8, 2013

---

For further information on the New World Order and the organized attack on true Biblical Christianity, visit www.zephaniah.eu

---

This paper may be circulated or distributed in any format or medium provided it is reproduced in full and its source is acknowledged.

Copyright Jeremy James 2013