

Papal Apostolic Exhortations are Now being Addressed to All Mankind

by Jeremy James

Franciscus Pontifex Maximus

The Roman Catholic Church would appear to be the nucleus around which the 'one world religion' will coalesce. It will absorb the Eastern Orthodox Church, along with the Mormon Church and a great swathe of the nominal churches already residing under the broad umbrella of liberal Protestantism.

The perceived links between Romanism and Islam are also being exploited by the Vatican to connect these so-called 'Abrahamic' faiths to a common doctrinal source. Meanwhile the contemplative mysticism of Hinduism and Buddhism, not to mention the elastic and somewhat chaotic character of their extensive religious writings, leaves plenty of scope to forge a set of common theological doctrines with the Roman church.

The New Age indoctrination of the youth of all religions via mass media, animated cartoons, fantasy and science fiction is providing the imagery and root ideas in which the doctrines of the 'one world religion' will prosper. The traditional texts and scriptures of these religions will not need to be rewritten but, through judicious editing and repackaging, along with careful reinterpretation, will appear, at least superficially, to fit the tenets of the new religion.

In a world where the youth of all nations have been thoroughly immersed in the magical realms of Disney and Harry Potter, it is not difficult to see how the magical, the mystical and the miraculous will all appear to emanate from a common supernatural source.

Video-gaming is steadily conditioning the younger generation to believe that we are whatever we imagine ourselves to be. If we make our own reality then it behoves us to visualize a common utopia and to ally ourselves only with those who share our vision.

The Vatican is co-ordinating the creation of this 'one world religion.' In doing so it is promoting a model of what this shared utopia ought to be, a world where everyone is equal, where all resources are used for communal purposes only, and the great threat of 'climate change' has been addressed through the universal adoption of an environmentally friendly code of behavior.

Earth Mother

The common focus in all of this is the Earth itself (or 'herself' in the language of the New Age). Man will be required to live in harmony with the earth in order that the earth herself can feed and support man. In this co-dependent existence the earth and her needs will supersede those of man, and the spirituality of man will be defined by this co-dependent relationship. Impressive scientific models and simulations will convince the masses that the earth is our 'Mother' who, through the beneficent process of Evolution (perhaps with alien assistance), has brought mankind into existence.

When he begins his mission the Antichrist will use the one world religion to strengthen his hold over humanity. However, in order that he himself can be recognized as 'God' he will have to destroy Rome, the Great Whore of Revelation 17:1, and direct attention away from the Mother goddess onto himself:

“And the ten horns which thou sawest upon the beast, these shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire.” (Revelation 17:16)

The structures needed to support this worldwide religious enterprise are being steadily assembled and put in place by the Vatican. The Pope himself will be its main focus, at least initially. We can already see this happening, with the corporate media giving regular coverage to his many opinions and pronouncements.

Pope Francis honoring Pachamama, earth mother goddess of the Amazon.

A major step forward has taken place under the ‘reign’ or pontificate of Francis. He is using what are known as Apostolic Exhortations to address, not just Catholics, but the world as a whole. These ‘magisterial documents’ (Wikipedia) have taken a giant leap forward into a One World perspective, where the Pope – the only public figure anywhere to have done so – is addressing every person on earth as though he had the spiritual and temporal authority to give them counsel and advice.

Apostolic Exhortations

To appreciate the significance of this, we need to examine the vehicle he is using. According to Wikipedia -

An apostolic exhortation is a magisterial document written by the pope. It is considered third in importance, after apostolic constitutions and encyclicals. Exhortations generally encourage a particular virtue or activity. Apostolic exhortations are frequently issued following a Synod of Bishops, in which case they are known as post-synodal apostolic exhortations. They do not define Church doctrine and are not considered legislative.

A website portal to an archive of Papal documents defines the term as follows:

Apostolic exhortations are papal reflections on a particular topic which are addressed to all of the clergy and faithful. The form was first used by Pope Pius XII in 1939. Exhortations generally encourage a particular virtue or mission, and are given on specific occasions. They do not contain dogmatic definitions or policies, and they are not considered legislative documents.

<https://ustpaul.libguides.com/c.php?g=522115&p=3569976>

We can see from these sources that an Apostolic Exhortation is an important document which is issued only by the Pope. The practice of issuing such documents began in 1939 and, as far as we can tell, only 25 or so have been issued to date. While they do not deal with dogmatic matters, they are intended to influence the way Catholics think about sensitive or contentious topics and to shape their opinions.

Traditionally addressed only to Catholics

Every Apostolic Exhortation issued before the incumbency of Francis (Jorge Bergoglio) was addressed only to a Catholic audience. This ought to be self-evident since the Pope has no remit in relation to non-Catholics and no mandate under Canon Law to address non-Catholics. In plain language, it is none of his business. We would be very surprised, for example, if the Dalai Lama issued an exhortation to non-Buddhists, or if the Archbishop of Canterbury deigned to counsel or advise persons outside the worldwide Anglican communion.

An exhortation, by its very nature, presumes that all intended recipients are affiliated in some way with the institution through which it issues.

Every Apostolic Exhortation states at the outset the category of persons to whom it is addressed. Here are a few examples from exhortations issued by previous Popes (apart from Pope John XXIII and Pope John Paul I who did not issue any):

Issued by Pope Pius XII in December 1939 on the commencement of World War II

EVANGELII NUNTIANDI

APOSTOLIC EXHORTATION
OF HIS HOLINESS
POPE PAUL VI

TO THE EPISCOPATE, TO THE CLERGY
AND TO ALL THE FAITHFUL
OF THE ENTIRE WORLD

Issued by Pope Paul VI in December 1975, concerning evangelization

APOSTOLIC EXHORTATION
FAMILIARIS CONSORTIO

OF POPE
JOHN PAUL II
TO THE EPISCOPATE
TO THE CLERGY AND TO THE FAITHFUL
OF THE WHOLE CATHOLIC CHURCH
ON THE ROLE
OF THE CHRISTIAN FAMILY
IN THE MODERN WORLD

Issued by Pope John Paul II in November, 1981, concerning marriage

POST-SYNODAL
APOSTOLIC EXHORTATION
SACRAMENTUM CARITATIS

OF THE HOLY FATHER
BENEDICT XVI
TO THE BISHOPS, CLERGY, CONSECRATED PERSONS
AND THE LAY FAITHFUL
ON THE EUCHARIST
AS THE SOURCE AND SUMMIT
OF THE CHURCH'S LIFE AND MISSION

Issued by Pope Benedict XVI in February 2007, concerning the Eucharist.

These Popes addressed, as appropriate, bishops, clergy, and the Catholic faithful or, as Pope John Paul II put it, “the faithful of the whole Catholic church”. They did not address non-Catholics, either directly or by allusion.

Addressing all mankind

This all changed with the advent of Pope Francis I, whose 6 exhortations to date are shown overleaf. His first two exhortations (in 2013 and 2016, respectively) were along traditional lines. The next two (in 2018 and 2019) were surprisingly vague as to who exactly was being addressed. The second of these (Christus Vivit) was addressed “to young people and the entire people of God”, categories which would appear to embrace an audience beyond what we normally understand by “the faithful of the whole Catholic church”.

The last two exhortations however, which issued in February 2020 and October 2023, respectively, are effectively addressed to most, if not all, of mankind. The first, Querida Amazonia, was addressed “To the people of God and to all persons of good will” – which embraces members of any religious persuasion, as well as atheists who perceive themselves to be persons of good will. The second, on the so-called Climate Crisis, is addressed “to all people of good will.”

For over seventy years the UN, the headquarters of world Communism, has been appointing what they call ‘Goodwill Ambassadors’ to travel the world and “raise awareness” of the UN and to promote its values and goals, all of which are Socialist. Many are movie celebrities who are likely to be recognized and admired in under-developed countries.

Another influential UN institution, known as World Goodwill, is dedicated to promoting “good will” as a philosophy in its own right. On its website it states:

“Goodwill is one of the most basic spiritual qualities of the human being and the great untapped resource at the heart of every human community. This energy is potentially a powerful force for social change – yet its power remains largely unrecognized and underutilized. World Goodwill fosters understanding of this energy and the role it is playing in the development of a new humanity...”

https://www.lucistrust.org/world\_goodwill

As the website URL reveals, World Goodwill is run by the Lucis Trust, formerly known as Lucifer Trust. Lucis Trust is dedicated to spreading the occult philosophy of Alice Bailey, a New Age channeler for the ‘spirit guide’ (fallen angel) whom she called Djwhal Khul – see images above.

“Alice and Foster Bailey founded the Lucis Trust in 1922. Its activities include the Arcane School, World Goodwill, Triangles, a quarterly magazine called The Beacon, and a publishing company primarily intended to publish Bailey's many books.” – Wikipedia

Good will is the new definition of faith

Bailey teaches that “goodwill” is a powerful force for social change. As the quotation above shows, this force is conceived by them as an occult energy which is playing an important role in “the development of a new humanity.” This new humanity is the New World Order, the formation of which was publicly announced by President G H Bush in a speech addressed to a joint session of the US Congress on 11 September 1990. When he addresses his exhortations “to all people of good will” the Pope is pursuing the same agenda, extolling the same “energy”, and reaching out to the same religious community as Alice Bailey.

Good will is the new definition of faith.

Catholics would appear to have little understanding of what the Pope is doing or where all of this is leading. They cannot see how his Apostolic Exhortations are bringing them into agreement with the goals of the New World Order. His last two exhortations were especially potent in this regard.

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ:” (Romans 5:1)

Querida Amazonia

Querida Amazonia was a call to recognize a basic goodness in all religious traditions, even the shamanic traditions of the Amazonian tribes. He urges his audience to find a ray of truth in the precepts and doctrines recorded in “the sacred texts of other religions and religious communities.” This policy began with a formal Declaration by the Second Vatican Council in 1965, known as Nostra Aetate. The current Pope has greatly accelerated the way this policy is being implemented, to the point where he is now addressing non-Catholics and accepting into the household of faith all persons of good will.

This is a revolutionary development, the significance of which has been missed by most Catholics.

Laudate Deum

His most recent Apostolic Exhortation, Laudate Deum, takes this ‘invitation’ to a whole new level. Not only does he expound on a subject about which he has no particular competence or expertise – a subject which just happens to be a centerpiece of the change agenda overseen by the New World Order – but he takes the people of good will who constitute his audience and confirms that, to the degree that they qualify as people with “authentic faith”, they enjoy the same spiritual standing before God as those who profess their faith in Christ.

No Pope has ever issued a document like this! It breaks away entirely from a Christian worldview grounded in the grace and mercy of Christ, which he earned on our behalf on Calvary, and posits instead an earth-centered religion where true believers atone for the sins of mankind by healing the “planet” and adopting the new moral code of sustainable development.

In this exhortation he addresses his audience as “my brothers and sisters of our suffering planet.” Note this carefully! The Popes before him would have referred to “my brothers and sisters in Christ”, but not Francis. He is redefining the family of God. He is redefining what it means to be a Catholic or a Christian. Authentic faith is authentic only if the believer directs his good will to the protection of the earth.

He also makes use of fear to disarm his audience and induce passivity. When the Pope says “the world in which we live is collapsing,” he is effectively calling for total agreement with his proposals, an unconditional willingness to adopt the new moral code. Science, not the Bible, will prescribe how many should behave.

His “two convictions”

He himself provides two principles to guide and shape human behavior, both of which are straight from the handbook of the New Age: “This allows me to reiterate two convictions that I repeat over and over again: “Everything is connected” and “No one is saved alone”.”

All Catholics should reject this monstrous nonsense. These principles are merely chains to bind the individual. The idea that everything is connected derives from the Eastern metaphysical belief that everything is grounded in a universal force or consciousness, often called tao, prana, or chi. This impersonal mechanical worldview is both godless and meaningless. The Word of God teaches nothing of the kind!

The second of his two principles, that “No one is saved alone,” is in direct conflict with the gospel of Christ. It is actually a mockery of the Gospel since it implies that, in the fulness of time, everyone will be saved. The Bible does not teach this. Jesus warned many times that hell is a real place and that all who refuse to repent will incur eternal damnation.

Defenders of the Pope’s philosophy will probably argue that we are reading too much into his statements. But is this really the case? If the Pope sees fit to emphasize these two propositions – to “reiterate two convictions that I repeat over and over again” – we ought to seek their Biblical justification. But there is none. They have no Scriptural basis but are taken straight from the New Age handbook.

The Pontifex Maximus has crossed the bridge

He ends by crossing a bridge into the wilderness, where faith itself is mischaracterized and removed entirely from its foundation in Christ. He speaks again to “my brothers and sisters” – the people of good will found in other religions – whose “authentic faith” secures their salvation:

“I cannot fail in this regard to remind the Catholic faithful of the motivations born of their faith. I encourage my brothers and sisters of other religions to do the same, since we know that authentic faith not only gives strength to the human heart, but also transforms life, transfigures our goals and sheds light on our relationship to others and with creation as a whole.”

The Pope likes to be known as the Pontifex Maximus or ‘Great Bridge’, a title which he inherited from the pagan Emperors of ancient Rome. The Emperor himself assumed the title of High Priest, the earthly ambassador of all pagan religions, the ‘great bridge’ that all must cross to reach the gods.

Ironically, with his new definition of Christianity, the Pontifex Maximus has crossed the pontifex maximus. He is leading all who will listen to him into the wilderness, where “good will” takes the place of righteousness and where faith is anchored, not in Christ, but in whatever the people of good will believe is authentic.

CONCLUSION

Dressed in white and sporting a big smile, Pope Francis has proven to be a treacherous deceiver. He has forsaken the gospel of salvation and replaced it with a new gospel, where all men and women of good will, who are righteous in their own eyes, are deemed to be members of the faithful. [We acknowledge that Rome never taught the true Gospel of salvation – by faith alone, through grace alone, in Christ alone – but offered instead a works-based counterfeit. Nevertheless, this counterfeit was Christ-centered, while the version now proposed is placing goodwill and “authentic faith” at the center and opening the door of salvation to all religions.]

Pope Francis is working hand-in-glove with the UN, World Goodwill, and the World Economic Forum to fuse New Age morality and environmental altruism with Biblical precepts. He rejects Bible prophecy regarding the End Time and offers instead the pseudo-science of climate catastrophe and the consequential end of life on earth.

The Paul VI Audience Hall in the Vatican. Many have commented on its strange, reptilian design. The stage is located in the 'serpent's mouth' where the Pope sometimes makes a public appearance.

With just a few editorial changes, his entire exhortation, Laudate Deum, could have been published as a feature article in The Economist. As Rothschild propaganda, it would have spoken more directly to Marxists, atheists, neo-pagans and 'woke' activists than it would to the average Catholic.

He has taken the “highest values” of the Christian life and turned them into a commitment to save the world. Having done so, he then exhorts his “people of good will” audience to accompany him on his “pilgrimage of reconciliation”:

“I ask everyone to accompany this pilgrimage of reconciliation with the world that is our home and to help make it more beautiful, because that commitment has to do with our personal dignity and highest values.”

This is a cunning document, drafted by a team of backroom boys who know how to knit together the various aims of the New World Order agenda and present them in pseudo-Christian garb. The majority of Catholics seem to have no idea what they are up to.

The 17 ‘sustainable development’ goals agreed by world leaders at Rio de Janeiro in 1992 – the so-called Earth Summit – are taking the place of the Ten Commandments. A man is deemed to have “authentic faith” only to the extent that his “highest values” commit him to the achievement of these goals.

Under the name of Francis I, Jorge Bergoglio is framing a new religion. When we consider the philosophical direction he has set in his various papers and encyclicals, notably Laudato Si (which has the subtitle ‘Care for Our Common Home’), we can see how traditional, Bible-based Christianity is being replaced by social humanism and benign environmentalism, an absentee ‘God’ who leaves man to run the world, a Christ who doesn’t save anyone but serves only as a wonderful example of what we can be, and a view of the Holy Spirit which is hard to distinguish from the ‘force’ or spirit of Eastern religion.

Catholics, by and large, are incredibly ignorant of the Bible and its doctrines. They have been trained over many centuries to follow whatever religious instructions they receive from Rome and are incapable of asking even the most basic questions about the Scriptural basis of what they are being told. In light of this they are very unlikely to see what Pope Francis is doing.

We would expect born-again Christians, however, to see past this maze of propaganda and mind control. They should be able to see that the Pontifex Maximus is working for the masterminds behind the New World Order and that the Vatican attack on the Gospel of Christ, which has entered a dangerous new phase, is certain to intensify.
